HOW TO GROW MORE IN LESS SPACE

Intensive gardening is a proven method of growing more in less space. It will save time and effort and let you landscape with food as well as flowers because it is easy to care for and attractive.

This intensive garden has 30 different vegetables planted in sufficient quantity to satisfy a small family in only 16 x 20 feet of space.

Intensive gardening uses every square inch for planting. This reduces weeding, conserves moisture and is the way to get maximum production from a minimum amount of space. According to 'Ecology Action of the Mid Peninsula' at Palo Alto, California, you can reduce the size of your garden by 75% and still get as much if not more production if you use this method.

The key to above ground intensive gardening is soil that is deeply dug, highly fertile, well aerated and moisture retaining. This can be built from any kind of clay, gumbo, or sandy soil by adding and thoroughly mixing in various kinds of organic material and fertilizers.

Approximately eighty percent of the trash people throw away is organic material. So are kitchen wastes and grass clippings. Practically everything except plastics, glass and metal can be used to improve garden soil and increase its productivity if it is ground up, composted and mixed into planting beds.

The Soil Blender, a multi-purpose garden tool in the picture, is a brand new electric powered machine designed to build soil for intensive gardening as well as to dig, mix, till, hill and cultivate flower beds and regular vegetable gardens.

Most garden centers can provide more information on intensive gardening and on the Soil Blender.

Tips To Help You

Decorate With Solar Shades

Just as texture adds interest to nature, it can enliven your decorating scheme. One way to achieve textural balance in your home is to install energy-efficient textured shades.

A vinyl-coated fiber glass fabric that has been heat-set in a delicate open weave is one of the newest textures in shades, according to the Screen Manufacturers Association. Available in several styles—roll-up, pulley and cord, and tension—these solar shades are appropriate for any decorating plan. They are available in light airy colors like beige and white and add a decorative appeal to any room.

Besides cutting glare (the open weave diffuses sunlight without blocking off the air flow), solar shades can help cut air conditioning costs because they reduce solar heat penetration. When they're pulled, they improve privacy without blocking your view of the outside.

For more information, write the Screen Manufacturers Association, 410 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60611.

YOUNG HEARTS CLUB MEMBERS AND FRIENDS are shown in photo above as they prepared to board a bus Tuesday morning, May 23rd, for a trip to Tangier Island. They returned home on Wednesday night following the two-day tour.

How would a 20% tax savings on payroll costs look on your bottom line next year?

Employers who give people on public assistance a chance to work again get a lot more than willing workers. They get tax credits that can substantially reduce employment costs.

The law permits you to claim a special credit on your company's Federal income taxes. Plus added reimbursements for job training costs you may incur. All of which makes dollars and sense for employers.

MRS. HAAN VISITED MRS. LAWSON

Mrs. L. E. Haan of San Francisco, California, left above, was a guest last week of Mrs. Rachel F. Lawson.

Elizabeth Haan is the daughter of the late Mrs. Mary Lizzie Browning Martin and the grand-daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bob and Emma Browning. She spent many days of her youth visiting her grandparents at the "Surrender Grounds" and who lived in the Old Meeks Store House. When the store house was restored, it was greatly changed in appearance as some sections of this old rambling Browning home, endowed with a large, shady porch, were done away with as well as the spacious front and back yards which were enjoyed by the children and grandchildren. With the aid of Ray Godsey who has been associated with the park for many years, found pictures of the now Meeks Store and the former Browning Home. Immediately, Mrs. Haan said - "That's Grandpa Bob's home." She was delighted to see it as it was when she was a young girl. She reminisced of many happy days there.

It was hard for her to comprehend such changes which had taken place since the restoration began.

While here she was introduced to cousins whom she had never met and hopes to return before too long and meet others and be accompanied by her husband, son and daughter.

Mrs. Lawson entertained at a luncheon for Mrs. Haan on Wednesday at The John Mosby Inn.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Betty Lynn Brown was entertained Saturday afternoon May 27th, with a floating miscellaneous bridal shower given by Mrs. Elaine Bollinger, Mrs. Bonnie Campbell, Mrs. Shirley Clowdis, Mrs. Marjorie Finch, Mrs. Lucy Harvey, Mrs. Frances Rogers, and Mrs. Mary Lou Spiggle. The shower was held at Rose Hall, St. Anne's Episcopal Church, Appomattox.

Many relatives and friends attended. The color scheme was yellow and green, and the refreshment table was decorated with a floral arrangement of seasonal flowers.

Miss Brown is to wed Mr. H. T. Nash, Jr., in June.

Young Hearts Club Held Meeting

The members of the Young Hearts Club and a few non-members enjoyed a trip to Tangier Island on May 23rd and 24th.

The regular meeting of the club was held at Mount Comfort United Methodist Church on Thursday, May 25th, with twenty-seven members and three visitors present.

The meeting was opened by the President, Helen Gunter, and a beautiful devotional was given by one of our visitors, Mrs. Lima Capps. Helen reported on the sick people and the usual business was conducted. There was some discussion about a trip to Nashville later in the year but nothing definite was decided.

The club has been invited to meet at the Bethel United Methodist Church in Concord for the June meeting.

The meeting was adjourned and lunch was enjoyed by all in the Fellowship Hall.
